

---

FUELLESS MOTOR

INVENTOR ILL

---

WASHINGTON — Lester Hender-shot of Pittsburgh, inventor of the "fuelless motor," was in an emergency hospital here today following an electric shock that left him temporarily paralyzed. Though the accident occurred Tuesday it became known only today because hospital attendants listed him merely as an "electrician," and did not connect him with the mysterious "fuelless" engine.

---